Dundalk FM represents the national community radio movement on RTE

Hugh McKitterick and Alan Byrne were panel guests on the Charlie Bird radio show on Feb 11th last. The lively debate featured contributions from print, radio and tv journalists, bloggers and tweeters. Topics included the future of journalism and newspapers, aggregation of the news and the growth of community media.

Working for the RTE programme were Dundalk's Jarlath Holland, broadcast co-ordinator and Conor Kavanagh, producer. A group of local broadcasters have been invited to visit the RTE studios in March.

Dundalk FM Radio vacancies

Dundalk FM has vacancies for volunteer research assistants, sports commentary team members and outside broadcast assistants, community journalists and documentary makers to make well-produced and interesting local content. Essential: Motivated to learn about broadcasting and to help give a voice to all members of our community. Call 93 95 100 or drop into the station anytime.

Dundalk FM welcomes three new members of staff: Colin McGuirk in the role of Business Development, Adam Kucharski as Community Services Representative from the Tús programme and Pauline McCusker Reception/Admin from the Central CE Scheme.
